Supervision Received and Given:

The employee receives assignments from the President/CEO. Most instructions are broad directives or policy statements. Normally, the employee receives specific instructions only in unusual or sensitive circumstances. The employee initiates and follows through on routine tasks with minimal supervision. Situations that arise which are not covered by instructions are referred to the President/CEO, or dealt with independently, depending on the circumstances. Normally, the employee identifies what needs to be done and indicates the priorities, deadlines, and resources available.

The employee monitors the work of subordinates for accuracy, completeness, compliance with policy, and achievement of objectives, evaluates their performance and provides counseling.

Guidelines:

The employee refers to MHA's and HUD's guidelines in performing work. These guidelines cover most job-related situations, although the employee frequently is required to use independent judgment in making decisions. If guidelines do not cover a situation, the employee consults the supervisor or makes a decision based on the circumstances.

Complexity:

The employee performs a wide variety of tasks, which range from routine to difficult and are not closely related. The employee must identify the work that needs to be done, determine how to accomplish it and coordinate, integrate, and prioritize a variety of tasks or assignments. The employee must make regular decisions involving usual and unusual circumstances, conflicting data, or other non-routine occurrences which may require extensive analysis to identify them. Tasks frequently have to be coordinated, integrated and/or prioritized. Decisions regarding unusual circumstances may be made by the employee and/or referred to the supervisor for resolution.

Scope and Effect:

The employee's work primarily impacts the residents and participants of the housing authority's grant-funded service programs. Successful accomplishment of duties by the employee will result in timely completion of those programs, achievement of established benchmarks and provide better, economic opportunities to attain self-sufficiency.

Personal Contacts:

Contacts are primarily with other Authority employees, federal, state and local governmental officials and representatives, and community agencies. The employee has contact with consultants, contractors, residents and participants of the housing authority's grant-funded service programs. The primary purpose of contacts is to obtain, give or clarify information, plan and provide assistance, and resolve problems. Contacts are normally cooperative; however, they may be occasionally antagonistic, unresponsive, or uncooperative contacts.

Physical Demands:

Work is principally sedentary, but involves some physical exertion during on-site visits with residents or staff members. The employee may drive lightweight vehicles, and may be required to push, pull and/or lift objects weighing up to and more than 25 pounds, such as boxes of canned food, tables or a resident who must be helped into and out of a vehicle.

Work Environment:

Work, involves the normal risks and discomforts associated with an office environment, but is usually in an area that is adequately heated, cooled, lighted and ventilated. The employee's work is performed both indoors and outdoors, and involves numerous visits to housing developments, residents' homes, the offices of other agencies, community centers and meeting halls. The employee may be exposed to weather extremes and to the usual hazards associated with housing developments. The employee may be required to work unusual hours.
